Excerpt: . . . Leadership participation in strategic planning varies among the defense Component-level components we reviewed. High-level leaders in the Air Force, the Marine Leadership Involvement in Corps, the Defense Contract Management Agency (DCMA), and the Strategic Planning for Defense Finance and Accounting Service (DFAS) have provided the Civilian Personnel Varies impetus for strategic planning and are partnering with civilian human capital professionals to develop and implement their strategic plans. Such partnership is increasing in the Army and not as evident in the Department of the Navy. Since the mid-1990s, Air Force leadership has been relatively active in Air Force Leadership strategic planning for civilian human capital. In 1999, high-level Air Force Increasingly Proactive on leadership recognized the need for strategic human capital planning to Strategic Planning for Civilian deal with the significant downsizing that had occurred over the last several Personnel years. For the civilian workforce, this recognition culminated in the publication in 2000 of the Civilian Personnel Management Improvement Strategy White Paper; the Air Force produced an...

Reviews

An exceptional pdf and the typeface utilized was fascinating to read through. It can be writer in straightforward words and phrases instead of confusing. I am just quickly could possibly get a delight of looking at a written ebook.
